Grenada Field Trials Big Success In Spite Of Rain

The Annual Grenada Trials ended Tuesday at dark after two days of excellent showing of entries but under very adverse conditions of rain Monday and the resulting wet grounds and heavy going Tuesday. While not quite as large an entry as last year it was much more of a "class" type of dogs. There were many Champions entered as well as sons and daughters of National Champions.

The winners of the Members Championship All-Age Stake was Edgewood Mike, owned by Jeff Elgin, Lake Providence, La., second place went to Blue Eagle owned by R. R. Sprinkell, Jackson, Miss., while third place was divided between Salling Willing, also from the kennels of Jeff Elgin and Spartan's Flash owned by Bennie Norris, of West Point, who has more wins than any sportsman in this section. Norris' two great winners, Schofield's Peppy Tip and Spartan's O'Henry Jim, made great speed but ranged too far to be in judgment much of the time.

Of the six Grenada dogs entered in the stake, Hawk's Reaping Reward, owned by Fred Lickfold, was the most impressive. Two dogs from the kennels of Willard Odom, Ithaca's Night Call and Maximus, ran well but went without well-defined bird find. Homer Williams and Russell Lockett handling Pal and Flashing Beauty respectively each found birds but these two dogs had not had quite enough work along field trial standards to crash the high dog circle. Puleman Joe owned by Donald Sharp hunted his ground consistently but was unable to locate birds.

Grenada Dogs Win Derby and Puppy Stakes
Ithaca's Night Call, young black and white pointer by Champion Ithaca, owned by Willie H. Carrier, New York City and trained by Willard Odom, of Grenada, won the Derby Stake with big going searching race which developed in a find of a very high up in the pine hills, far away from the gallery. "Blackie" as she is known held her very pinned, with high head and tail, for probably fifteen minutes until judges arrived, very flushed and she was shot over twice. Her behavior was perfect.

Jackson's Pat M owned by Mr. Watts, of Columbia, Miss., won second. Harris Rhyme, of West, Miss., won third with his Randall's Dollar. This was a very high class stake and competition was keen throughout.

Puppy Stake
This is said to be the highest class Puppy Stake ever seen in this section. The winner Creeky Lady, is being trained by Layden Finney, the Glenwild trainer of dogs for this well-known Borden quail preserve. The owner of Lady is Mrs. Andrew King, of Chicago.

Tony's Dan, owned and handled by Tony Poters, made a very nice display of ground work but was unable to "place."

Second place went to Silver Spray, a pup that has been entered five times with five wins in recent trials. Spray is owned and was handled by C. B. Roper, of Jackson, Miss.

Montague Gammons, training at Raleigh, Miss., entered four very high class pups, and all showed well but only one was able to place in this swift moving stake that was

"A Tenant" Answers Mr. Boushe's Article, "You Have Seen Their Faces"

Dear Editor:
Please allow me space in your paper, to say a few words in behalf of the tenant.

Mr. Boushe's article, "You Have Seen Their Faces," which appeared in your paper a short time ago surely didn't do the "worthy" tenant justice.

I agree with him about the first and second classes he mentioned, for they don't want a home. Wouldn't have it, if they got one free gratis. But of the third class he tells about, he certainly is mistaken. Probably though he has never had any dealings with that class and doesn't know.

He says they are tenants because they want to be. He was never mistaken in his life. They are tenants because of some adverse condition, which prevented their forefathers from leaving them a home. Just look about and see how many have homes that don't belong to them. Their forefathers, not they, endured "the hardships of the pioneer days. We

Pilot, who took third place handling.

The judges, C. C. Stephenson, of Holly Springs, Miss., and Frank Broyles, of Jackson, Miss., were complimented for their decisions in all stakes. There were many owners, trainers and enthusiasts in the gallery each day, among them were the President of United States Field Trials, President and Secretary of Mississippi Amateur Field Trials, President and Secretary of Tennessee Amateur Field Trials, Officials of Louisiana Trials.

Frank Vestral, Commercial Appeal staff correspondent was on hand to cover the Trials for The Commercial Appeal, and Bob Waller, represented the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Thomason Give Bird Supper Jan. 8

Fourteen Guests Entertained At Their Attractive Country Home

Saturday night, January 8th, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Thomason were hosts at one of the finest bird and chattering suppers, according to reports, ever spread in Grenada county when they entertained fourteen guests, all men, in their well known hospitable manner, at their attractive country home.

Delicious egg nog was served before the bounteous meal of chattering, quail with rice and gravy, home-made holls, fruit salad, mince pie and coffee.

The guests were Dr. J. S. Sharp, Dr. R. A. Clanton, Dr. F. S. Hill, Dr. S. B. Caruthers, Dr. F. B. Coats, Messrs. H. J. Ray, H. B. Spain, J. B. Keaton, J. E. Shaw, Jr., J. D. Crenshaw, W. W. Whitaker, W. A. Winter, E. L. Boteler, and B. B. Baker.

Dr. Hill was tendered the championship as consumer of quail with Dr. Sharp running a close second. Dink Thomason, the host, and B. B. (Byran) Baker retain their record, held over a period of years, not only for beat four and Grenada county, but the state, and possibly the world.

Everyone, it is said, had a most enjoyable evening and departed with the feeling that it was an occasion they would remember for a long, long time.

Navy Seeks Men For Aviation With College Education

Navy Department Seeking Applications In South To Build Navy Strength

The Navy Department, in an effort to build up a strong naval reserve aviation force, is seeking young, unmarried men, with a college education, who desire flight training at various air stations in the United States.

Presenting an opportunity for qualified young men interested in aviation the offer includes a tour of duty extending over a period of four years.

Five qualifications are required. They are:

The applicant must be an American citizen, between 20 and 28, unmarried, of sound physical condition, including a minimum height of five feet six inches, a minimum weight of 132 pounds and must have perfect vision in both eyes without the aid of glasses. The fifth requirement is a college education. Candidates who did not graduate may be considered.

A board of naval officers from the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., composing aviators and a flight surgeon, will meet in the principal cities of the south during March and April for the purpose of examining candidates for naval cadet aviation training. The board travels by plane.

The board does not give mental examinations, as candidates are judged by their educational record. A thorough physical examination is given by the flight surgeon. Before being examined, candidates must submit applications with certain documentary evidence which is reviewed by the board. Candidates who are still in school should qualify as soon as possible so that they may be ordered to duty later in the year. Classes assemble monthly from May to October. There is no obligation involved in making application. Blanks and information are obtainable from the senior member, student selection board, Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

The training embraces flight training at sea and shore stations and in all types of naval aircraft, both single and multi-motored. During the training period, the average cadet will acquire from 1,100 to 1,500 hours of flying time, and a well-rounded experience in aviation, according to the navy department. This flying time is sufficient eligibility for a department of commerce transport license without examination.

$1500 Cash Bonus
While undergoing training at Pensacola, the cadet is paid $105 per month and is supplied with uniforms, quarters and books. He is covered by a $10,000 government life insurance policy, which is paid for by the government during his active duty tour. Upon graduation from Pensacola the cadet is sent to flight duty with aviation units of the United States fleet for three years, during which time he is paid $155 per month. At the end of this period he receives a cash bonus of $1,500 and is commissioned as an ensign in the United States naval reserve.

Interested parties should write to Senior Member, Naval Reserve Flight Selection Board, Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

The local Navy Recruiting office has blank application forms for this training.

New Homes

Based on population estimates for the next fifteen years, experts figure that about 5,000,000 new homes will have to be built in the United States to care for new families.

Henry Crosby's Death Alleged As Foul Play

The following letter from Hon. Clarence Morgan, District Attorney, was received by Sheriff D. W. Dogan:

Kosciusko, Miss., Jan. 8, 1938.
Mr. Dave Dogan, Sheriff,
Grenada, Mississippi,
Dear Dave:

Henry Crosby, from my county, was brought in here as a corpse yesterday from Grenada county. Some of his neighbors and friends report to me that he unquestionably was robbed and murdered at some hotel in Grenada. You probably know something about it. They tell me that the undertaker gave them information to the effect that he unquestionably was robbed and murdered.

I want you to make an investigation of this matter with all your facilities and report to me what your findings are.

Your friend truly,
C. E. MORGAN,
District Attorney.

The Sentinel of January 7th, carried the following news item:

C. Of C. To Hold Annual Membership Dinner At Community House Jan. 19th

The Grenada County Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual membership dinner next Wednesday night, January 19th at 7:00 o'clock at the Community House.

The Lions and Rotary Clubs will dispense with their regular weekly luncheons, held on Monday and Tuesday of each week, and are expected to attend the Membership Dinner together with all present and prospective C. of C. members.

There will be no speeches, but important matters pertaining to the welfare of Grenada and Grenada county will be disposed of.

Tickets will be sold in advance in order to prepare for the dinner. If by chance you are not called on, regarding the death of Mr. Crosby: Mr. Henry Crosby, of McCool, died at 12:45 o'clock Thursday morning at the Grenada Hospital as the result of injuries received in a fire which did considerable damage to the Majet lodging house on Depot Street some three hours earlier. He was about 50 years old.

The fire originated on the lower floor in the bath room in the rear of the building and had made considerable headway before the fire department was summoned. The building is of frame construction and prompt action of the fire department prevented the structure from being destroyed.

Mr. Crosby evidently became excited for he jumped from the second story window. His body struck the adjoining building, rebounded against the burning building and plunged to the ground. He was badly burned about the body and his face was a mass of blood when rescuers reached him. Garner Brothers' ambulance responded promptly to the emergency call and he was taken direct to the hospital.

The letter of District Attorney Morgan to Sheriff Dogan was the first mention here of possible murder in connection with the death of Mr. Crosby. It has been, and is still considered nothing but a tragic accident.

Relatives of Mr. Crosby called on Sheriff Dogan on Wednesday of this week and requested an investigation. Mr. Dogan accordingly called on the writer, who had previously discussed the matter with him, as he assisted in taking Mr. Crosby to the hospital in Garner Brothers' ambulance. Mr. Dogan requested me to summon all witnesses that I knew who had knowledge of the affair. I accordingly called John Derrington, bus driver between Grenada and Calhoun City and C. E. Davidson, radio engineer for radio station WGRM. Both Mr. Derrington and Mr. Davidson stated that Mr. Crosby raised the sash of the window and jumped, in spite of advice to wait a moment or so for a ladder by which he could be rescued. Their statements coincided with the news item above, carried in The Sentinel January 7. These gentlemen stated that it was out of the question to suppose that Mr. Crosby had been thrown from the window, as they had been led to believe. The sheriff then requested that we accompany him to Garner Brothers' Funeral Parlor, as it was this undertaker who answered the ambulance call, carrying him to the hospital, and taking charge of his body after he had died. Mr. Leonard Holland, of Garner Brothers, stated that the body was badly burned and that there was no evidence of foul play.

After hearing all the known facts concerning this tragedy the friends of Mr. Crosby expressed their appreciation of Mr. Dogan for the courtesies shown them. They went home satisfied that Mr. Crosby had not been murdered.

(Editor's Note) Mr. Morgan stated in his letter: "They tell me that the undertaker gave them information to the effect that he unquestionably was robbed and murdered." Mr. Morgan does not have reference to Garner Brothers of Grenada.

On the way to the hospital Mr. Crosby gave his name and address and stated that he would not live. If someone had attempted to murder him, he most likely, would have made mention of the fact.

you can secure as many tickets as you want from any member of the arrangement committee. Members of the committee are: John Pressgrove, Joe H. Neely, Frank Jones, Carl Jordan, and J. S. Anderson.

Much rivalry exists between the different business houses of Grenada, each merchant striving to have the greatest number of his male employees present at the dinner. An employee should be as much interested in the welfare of Grenada as his employer and should make every effort to be on hand next Wednesday night.

The business women are also urged to attend. All tickets are 50c.

WASHINGTON PARADE

phenomena of the new deal which has passed almost without comment even here in the capital is the sudden shifting in prominence of the various cabinet posts. In the past the most important members have usually been the Secretary of State and the Secretary of the Treasury. Many of the men who held these jobs were already of national reputation like Justice Hughes, William Jennings Bryan, Elihu Root, McAdoo and Mellon. Nearly a dozen others used the position as a stepping stone to the presidency or, at least, an attempt at the office. Secretaries of war have been of almost equal importance, Jefferson Davis, Grant, Sherman, and Taft, for instance. The navy has had its share.

But now the departments dealing with external affairs have been relegated to comparative obscurity and Secretary Ickes of the interior—an office still less than a hundred years old—Wallace of the even younger Bureau of Agriculture, and Madame Perkins of the Baby Labor Administration fill the public eye—and ear.

And it's likely to continue that way through 1938 at least.

Observers here predict that the year will be comparatively quiet on the foreign front although they expect an increasing number of incidents in the orient as Japan consolidates her China gains and the European tension will not lessen as the fascist bloc absorbs all of the little countries except Belgium, the Netherlands and Czechoslovakia. Britain will make desperate efforts to conciliate Germany, and France will agree to reasonable concessions for fear that the last of her little central European Allies, Czechoslovakia, may be overrun.

For a few weeks it seemed as if General Franco and his Spanish rebels had made their last effort but Mussolini has sent fresh aid and the struggle will drag on.

The figures of the unemployment census came as a shock to many of the more optimistic members of Congress and when the total had been adjusted to take care of the twenty-eight per cent who failed to register it had a generally sobering effect which will shortly become apparent in the actions of the legislators. Ten million, eight hundred thousand was an astounding number when it was believed that recovery was already well established, but that is not the whole story. At least two million more are believed to have joined the jobless since the registration took place.

Unless conditions improve markedly before election the next Congress will undoubtedly be far more radical than any so far. The pressure of the unemployed and those whose jobs are precarious or at a bare minimum wage may force the passage of emergency measures which will make present taxes on wealth and big business seem negligible.

Much Pork Lost Through Spoilage

Mississippi farmers annually lose thousands of pounds of pork through spoilage. The state extension service urges farmers to utilize available cold storage facilities as the best means of preventing such losses.

Although farmers try to butcher on cold days, often the temperature rises before the curing process is complete and large losses from souring result.

Curing is a race between the multiplication of spoilage bacteria in the curing pork and the penetration of preserving salt. "The best means of insuring against meat losses," says Paul F. Newell, extension animal husbandman of Mississippi State College, "is to maintain a steady temperature of 36 to 40 degrees Fahrenheit during the curing period. This can be done in the ice or storage plant where temperatures can be controlled."

That Mississippi farmers are using cold storage curing is indicated by reports from 47 plants in the state compiled by Newell, who says that farmers annually cure about 2,000,000 pounds of pork in these plants.

Storage plants generally offer three kinds of curing, including the plain or salt cure, the sugar cure, and sugar cure smoked and wrapped. The farmer can easily smoke and wrap his own meat after it has been cured properly.

Wrapping is necessary to give adequate protection from skippers. The meat should first be wrapped in clean paper and then placed in a muslin bag. The pieces should be stored by hanging in a dark, well ventilated room.

Next to temperature, sanitation is the most important factor, says Newell. Cleanliness in butchering and preparing meat for curing cuts down the number of spoilage bacteria and lessens the chance of spoilage. County agents will furnish farmers information on butchering and curing on request.

1938 Navy Maneuvers
About March 14, over 150 warships with 500 planes and some 50,000 men will assemble for "U. S. Fleet Problem 19"; a battle maneuver which will simulate actual war conditions in defense of a battle line extending from the Aleutian Islands to a point some distance southwest of Hawaii. The problem will extend over a period of about six weeks and will be the most extensive in the history of naval maneuvers.

Names Of Navy Ships

It is the unwritten law that battleships bear the names of states, cruisers those of cities, and destroyers the names of departed naval officers, secretaries of the Navy or enlisted men who have performed brave deeds. Transports bear the names of Marine Corps generals, tugs are named after rivers and mine-sweepers after birds.

AN ARMY FOR SERVICE

SOUTHERN BELL telephone employees are constantly training to keep pace with a changing business. They work individually, yet as cooperative parts of an organization, knit together by loyalty to the service. In these respects they are like a vast army, an army for public service.

Their ranks numbered some 20,000 men and women at the end of 1937, growing by 400 over 1936. Their payroll was four million dollars higher than for the previous year, reaching close to $26,000,000, most of which was spent in their home communities.

During the year, this army not only maintained the telephone "plant" for your use, but constructed over $27,500,000 worth of new facilities to meet the increased demand for service. At the end of the year, there was about $235 invested in your telephone "plant" per telephone.

An average of 8.6 local calls per day per telephone were handled in 1937, or nine million calls a day. In addition, some 43,000,000 toll and long distance calls were completed in 1937.

A gain in telephones in 1937 brought the Southern Bell Company's total to 1,000,000 by the end of the year.

Taxes increased by about $575,000, amounting to $7,300,000 paid to Federal, State, County and Municipal governments in 1937.

Important figures, these. But more important to telephone users is the army for service, whose sole aim is to give the "most telephone service and the best, at the lowest possible cost consistent with the financial safety of the business."

Progress Must Go On

This has been an era of great improvements in railroad service. Such improvements as streamline trains, air-conditioned travel, new power, high-speed schedules, pickup and delivery of package freight.

Progress must continue. Railroads need to give better service today than yesterday, still better service tomorrow than today.

It takes research, invention and determination to make continued improvements. These the railroads have.

Three things more are needed. One is adequate rates. Another is patronage. The other is freedom from handicaps. These the public must provide.

Dr. Felix J. Underwood, Executive Officer of the State Board of Health, has been appointed State Chairman of Mississippi's Celebration of the President's Birthday on January 29, 1938, which celebration is featured all over the United States by "President's Birthday Parties," held for the benefit of the unfortunate victims of infantile paralysis.

These President's Parties have been held throughout the State for the past five years, the one to be held this year being the sixth, and in most communities of the State they have proven huge successes, both socially and from a benevolent viewpoint.

Hitherto, it was the requirement that the net proceeds of these parties, after all local expenses had been paid, were divided by re-allocating 70% of same to the Warm Springs, Georgia, Foundation to be used for the treatment of infantile paralytics, and the other 30% was retained by the community, town or city in which the party was held, for the benefit of crippled children or polio patients.

It seems that this plan was unsuccessful because of the fact that it did not segregate a sufficient amount at any one point to be of selling effect in controlling or breaking the disease. For example, last year's president's parties held in Mississippi were all well attended by citizens of the several communities, and the quota retained in Jackson amounted to $212.00, according to Dr. Underwood, and the 30% amounts ran from that on down to $109.00 in Meridian, $110.00 in Tupelo, $82.02 in Vicksburg and these amounts were scaled down to less than ten dollars in some small communities.

This year the entire net proceeds will be forwarded to the New National Foundation for infantile paralysis, and this Foundation will contribute very materially to the control and treatment of the malady in those sections of the United States where the needs are the greatest. One of these sections includes the State of Mississippi, and Dr. Underwood estimated that the amount retained by the several communities of this state last year, if used collectively, would not have operated the Infantile Paralysis Clinic in Jackson for even one month, and he also estimates that if the National Foundation route had been in vogue at that time, Mississippi would not have received less than $10,000 from that source last year for the support of the Clinic, enough to have operated the same for at least five months. Dr. Underwood is very enthusiastic over the movement and urges every community to hold these president's parties on January 29th.

Dr. William D. McCain, recently elected by the Board of Trustees as Director of the State Department of Archives and History to succeed the late Dr. Dunbar Rowland, arrived in Jackson Saturday, accompanied by his family, and on Monday he filed his oath of office with the Secretary of State and assumed charge of his new duties.

Dr. McCain is well qualified for the position he has been chosen to fill; having fitted himself thoroughly from a collegiate point of view, as well as having served as assistant archivist in the division of classification of the National Archives at Washington. The new Director is a native of Webster County, Mississippi, his former home being at Cleveland, Bolivar County.

The 1938 session of the Mississippi Legislature is now underway, having convened at high noon on Tuesday of last week as provided by law. A few bills were introduced in the House, and a Concurrent Resolution was passed by both Houses, providing for a joint session on Wednesday to hear the Governor's message. Another bill introduced in both Houses and passed was that providing for an appropriation covering the expenses of this session of the Legislature.

Over in the Senate, there were sixty-four bills introduced and some two or three passed, including the legislative expense bill, and Senate Bill 63, providing that tax collectors do not collect damages and penalties for delinquent purchases of automobile tags; also S. B. 64, amending former laws and authorizing Institutions of Higher Learning to contract with and borrow money on a self-liquidating basis from the Federal Governmental agencies, for purposes of repairing, erecting, remodeling, maintaining or acquiring dwelling, dormitories or laundries at any of the colleges of which they are trustees, and to finance same.

Other bills introduced in the Senate have largely to do with authorizing appropriations of various departments, boards, commissions, institutions, etc., and in addition S. B. No. 61 would increase the duties and powers of the state auditor so as to provide annual audits of all public offices, boards and commissions handling public funds, state institutions and counties, S. B. 62 would provide the method of selecting, drawing and summoning jurors.

A joint session of the Senate and House assembled in the House chamber Wednesday morning to hear the message of Governor White. The Governor was prompt and opened his address at the appointed time, delivering one of the most forceful and informative addresses ever heard in the legislative chambers of the State. He reviewed the accomplishments of the state for the past two years under the present administration, declaring that the Magnolia State had made remarkable and gratifying progress in numerous ways during that period, touching upon the favorable publicity given to Mississippi; her progress in the building of paved highways, paying off bonded indebtedness, and interest, and commended the superb and effective work being accomplished by all departments of state, and he addressed his message directly to the state's finances and the financial condition of the commonwealth today, and the prospects for the next biennium. He gave his recommendations for a slightly budget for the next two years from July 1, 1938 and explained just where the increases would be applied, mainly among which would be the payment of bonded indebtedness and interest, to schools and increases for poorly paid teachers, to take care of the blind, the aged and needy, and to furnish free school books for certain grades of the common schools of the state.

The Governor also reviewed the splendid condition and the management of the Mississippi penitentiary, and stated that while penal institutions of other states proved a great drain on the state treasury, that Mississippi's penal farms were clearly self sustaining and always turned back into the treasury as much or more money than is appropriated to maintain them. He recommended the sale by the State of Oakley farm in Rankin county, which has quite a large acreage.

The Governor was especially gratified with the progress the State has made building of paved highways, and declared that Mississippians had received full value for every dollar that has been spent on the highway program. He recommended the enlargement of the present road program to give every section of the state paved highways, and urged an appropriation of approximately 12 million dollars or more, which added to another five millions to be secured from the federal government, would produce sufficient funds to complete the additional highways to be added to the present priority system, and stated that the impounding of another one-half cent of the gasoline taxes would pay for these added roads and would add no further burden to the taxpayers.

He recommended the serious consideration of the legislature of the report of the land office committee, and stated that under the present set-up, the land commissioner's office is unable to cope with the large amount of business which it is encumbered with in handling the large acreage of state-owned lands, which he stated was approximately 1 1/4 million acres.

He lauded the work of the advertising commission that has been functioning for the past one and one-half years, and urged the continuation of this endeavor, stating that it is essential to the success of the industrial program and many other progressive movements made in the State.

The Governor expressed his approval of the inauguration of a highway patrol system, and an automobile driver's license to insure a greater safety for the people and the minimum of automobile and motor vehicle casualties.

He recommended certain changes in the system of selecting and summoning jurors, and urged the repeal of the law providing for a privilege tax on slot machines and the enforcement of the present law on the statute books, prohibiting the operation of same. He urged the requirement of annual audits of all public offices, both

WASHINGTON SUMMARY (Week Ending January 8) (By Congressman A. L. Ford)

The third session of the 75th Congress, the members of which were elected in 1936, has begun. The reader will remember that the President of the United States sent his message in writing to the Special Session which convened on last November 15. Last Monday he resumed his usual custom of appearing in person for the delivery of his message. The House and Senate convened in their respective Chambers at twelve o'clock on Monday, the third. After the roll was called in each House to determine the presence of a majority of the members, there was a short recess, followed by the appearance of the President at 1:30. His message, dealing with the farm problem, wages and hours, relief, the budget, and the foreign situation, was broadcast to the world by radio. The Senate had marched over in a body, and sat with the House of Representatives to hear what the President had to say.

On Tuesday, the daily sessions of state and county, and of all institutions and boards and commissions charged with the duty of handling public funds.

Reviewing the fact that industrial development has reached a stage in Mississippi, and throughout the South, that demands the creation of a Department of Labor in this State, he recommended the enactment of a law creating a department of this kind.

He heartily favored the exemption from taxes, state, county, district and municipal, from the homes of Mississippi and urged the law makers to find some way by which to lift all taxes off of homes.

There are 140 members of the House of Representatives and 49 members of the Senate. This makes in all, 189 members. A total of fifty-eight members of the 1936-1940 legislature have had previous legislative experience; there are 144 married members, 40 single, and 4 widowers; the average age of House members is 42.9 years, of Senate members—46.4 years and the average age of the entire membership is placed at 43.3 years.

As to occupations, there is a total of 89 farmers in both Houses, 51 lawyers, 45 teachers, 14 merchants, 12 insurance agents, and twenty-two occupations are represented among the rest. Of course, you see, this would make more than the total number of the members, however, the members oftentimes have more than one occupation or profession.

Out of the 189 members, 173 are native Mississippians, and the rest are divided among the states of Alabama, Kentucky, Arkansas, Louisiana, Tennessee and Missouri. Among the membership are 84 Baptists, 62 Methodists, 15 Presbyterians, and the balance are divided among other faiths.

began as usual. The House spent the week in considering routine matters on the calendar, also taking up the question of appropriations with which to run various agencies of the Government.

The well-known Anti-lynching bill has again arisen to plague the Senate. Senators Wagner, of New York, and Van Nuys, of Indiana, are pushing the measure. The Southern Senators are determined to beat the bill by speaking it to death (sometimes referred to as a "filibuster"), and there can be no idea when the extended debate may end. There are no limitations on debate in the Senate, whereas time limits on speeches in the House are very severe.

The Conference Committee which is attempting to iron out differences in the farm measure has not yet reached agreement on all provisions of the bill. The Committee is meeting every day, but appears to be making slow progress. One of the main difficulties awaiting solution is the Boileau Amendment, which has been previously discussed in this column. Justice George Sutherland, of the United States Supreme Court, has retired from active duty, effective January 18. He served as Justice of the Supreme Court for fifteen years, and is now nearly 76 years of age. His retirement will give President Roosevelt his second appointment to the Supreme Bench. The first appointee was Justice Hugo L. Black.

LUTHER LATHAM, FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

To the People of the Fifth Circuit Court District of Mississippi:

Formal announcement of my candidacy for the office of Circuit Judge of the Fifth District of Mississippi will be found in another column of this paper.

In announcing my candidacy for this important office, I do so fully cognizant of the exacting duties and great responsibilities attaching to and resting upon those who occupy judicial positions. I believe, too, that I know something about the type, temperament and manner of men suited to such positions; and having determined in my own mind and heart that I am willing and anxious to meet and assume those duties and responsibilities, and believing that I can, if elected, discharge the duties of the office to which I aspire with credit to myself and to the satisfaction of the people of the District, I submit my candidacy to you upon such merits and qualifications as I may possess.

Born and reared in Webster County, I was admitted to the bar there in November, 1912, since which time I have been actively engaged in the practice of my profession. My practice having been general in its nature, I have represented, and have come in close contact with, every type and kind of clients known to the bench and bar of this section of the State, and I believe that this training and experience will enable me to properly understand and judicially determine the rights of all classes of litigants impartially, without bias and in strict accord with the rules of law.

I have long cherished the ambition to be your Circuit Judge, and if you will give me the opportunity to serve you in that capacity while I am in the vigor of life, I promise you that I will discharge the duties of the office fairly, faithfully and to the best of my ability.

Respectfully, LUTHER LATHAM

Conservation Week
Jan. 30 to Feb. 5

(By J. S. Vandiver)
The week of January 30 to February 5 has been designated as Conservation Week for Mississippi. A booklet giving suggested programs is being prepared by Mrs. G. H. Reeves, Chairman of the Mississippi Conservation Week Committee. This program is sponsored by the Mississippi Federation of Women's Clubs, assisted by the Mississippi Congress of Parents and Teachers, Garden Clubs of Mississippi, Mississippi Association for the Conservation of Wild Life in cooperation with the State Department of Education, State Department of Agriculture and Commerce, Mississippi State Game and Fish Commission and Mississippi Forestry Commission.

Conservation Week should be a period in which the pupil of the schools of Mississippi may learn to appreciate more fully the extent to which our natural resources contribute to the wealth and prosperity of the state and add to the happiness and welfare of all our people. Every industry and occupation rests either upon land or some other form of the gifts of nature. Man's existence depends upon the earth and the things that grow upon it or are taken out of it.

We should discover the value of our forests, not only for furnishing lumber but for their value in preserving the fertility of the soil and protecting our communities from floods. We should become better acquainted with the plant and animal life and should develop a keener appreciation of the beauties of nature and their aesthetic value to mankind.

It is my sincere desire that every school in the state will have appropriate programs during Conservation Week and invite the people of the community to attend and participate.

Identification
The identification section of the Navy Department has on file the fingerprints of every officer and enlisted man who has served in the Navy since July 1, 1907. Ten former enlisted men of the Navy and six former Marines who lost their lives in the hurricanes on the Florida Keys in September, 1935 were positively identified by the Navy Identification Section. These identifications prevented these men from being buried as unknown.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF GRENADA COUNTY AND CITY OF GRENADA

THE "20 PER CENT INDUSTRY"

Leonard P. Ayres, one of the nation's top-flight economists, recently described the railroads as our "20 per cent industry."

That is, the lines represent about 20 per cent of our industrial assets. Railroad securities constitute 20 per cent of all listed stocks and bonds. Railroads purchase 20 per cent of output of a number of our largest industries—steel, soft coal, fuel oil, lumber.

Mr. Ayres further pointed out something that is not generally realized—that transportation contributes more dollars to our national income than does agriculture. For each seven dollars that farming adds to the national income, transportation adds eight. And railroad transportation is by far the largest element in the transportation industry.

It was not an accident that during the recent hearings held by the Interstate Commerce Commission concerning the railroads' application for a 15 per cent rate increase, representatives of other important industries appeared and spoke on behalf of granting the request. We have reached a dangerous crisis in railroad finance, with almost all lines earning next to nothing in net profit, with further reductions in buying forced on the roads, and with a number of lines coming perilously close to bankruptcy.

Railroad prosperity is essential to national prosperity. The time when action could be delayed has long been passed. Unless the lines are given the assurance of materially increased income, they can go no way but backward, and the nation will go with them.

The 15 per cent rate increase would not entirely offset the increases that have taken place in railway operating costs in the past five years. But it would put the lines on a solvent basis. It would give them a modest net profit. It would dispel the spectre of government ownership which would mean a burden of billions on the taxpayers. And it would create orders and jobs investments—the essential ingredients of recovery at this time.

BETTER MEALS FOR LESS

The efficiency of mass distribution of food as developed in the United States, is shown in an exhaustive report on "Chain Store Distribution of Fruits and Vegetables in the Northeastern States," recently issued by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and the New Jersey College of Agriculture.

One-quarter of all fresh fruits and vegetables are sold by the chains in the eight largest Northeastern cities. Half of what they sell they buy at first-hand from the growers. They operate their own warehouses and refrigerating plants, their own shipping systems and distributing and retail outlets, and are their own buyers, thus reducing overhead and cost of products to the ultimate consumer to a minimum.

At the same time, as the report further shows, charges of monopoly in reference to the chains are unfounded. No single chain controls more than 12 per cent of the chain business in any of the Northeastern cities reviewed. In other words, competition is extremely aggressive—among different chains, as well as independent outlets. Each tries to outdo the other, and so attract new customers. Each goes the limit in reducing costs, and shaving profits—to the end that the price spread between consumer and producer becomes constantly narrower.

As the New York Herald Tribune says, "If the chains cut prices to the consumer they are fostering consumption. They are helping the poor to eat those products of the land... Whatever watching the chains may need... they seem now to be promoters of consumption with enough competition among themselves to make it cheap and easy for the proletarian to eat plenty. Here again it would seem that thoroughly selfish and profit-seeking private enterprise runs completely afoul of government by giving the farmer a market and the citizen a meal."

What the chains are doing in the Northeast they are also doing throughout the country, in the little towns as well as the great cities.

THE PROPOSED TVA INVESTIGATION

It has been proposed that Congress investigate the Tennessee Valley Authorities. A number of leading senators, of both parties, are supporting the proposal.

For a long time, there have been rumors of irregularities in the operation of the Authority, starting with the sensational disclosure of ex-Comptroller McCarl concerning waste and inefficiency. It has been said by men in a position to know that TVA's system of bookkeeping makes it next to impossible to judge, from the bare records, precisely how much money is spent in many instances.

If it is true that there has been an excessive amount of preventable waste in the operation of the Authority, the public, which pays the bills, is entitled to know about it. If it is not true, the rumors should be dissipated in the interest of fairness to the Authority's directors and employees.

Under any circumstances, it will be interesting to see how the senators vote if and when a resolution for investigating the TVA is offered. Congress has always been more than willing to investigate and condemn the private utility industry, and often on the flimsiest pretexts. It has done this, according to spokesmen, in the public interest. Will it be as zealous of the public interest when it comes to disclosing the truth and the whole truth about its own creature, the TVA?

LUTHER LATHAM FOR JUDGE

It is now known that the Hon. Luther Latham, member of the law firm of McKeigney & Latham, Eupora, will be a candidate for circuit judge of the Fifth Judicial District in the August, 1938 primaries. Senator Latham has been urged for some years by friends throughout the district to make the race, but it is only within recent months that he has indicated that he will do so.

The Fifth District is composed of seven counties: Webster, Choctaw, Winston, Attala, Carroll, Montgomery and Grenada. Luther Latham is well known in all these counties for his ability as a lawyer, his integrity and his intelligence. His friends predict that he will be elected to the office to which he aspires. For many years his law firm has been adviser to the Webster county Board of Supervisors, and the Eupora Board of Aldermen. It has handled some of the most difficult trial cases in this section of Mississippi, the skill and ability in the court-room of both men having been thoroughly tested.

There probably is not a more civic-minded man in Webster county than Luther Latham. He has devoted himself unselfishly to improving the educational facilities of his community and county. He has served for many years as president of the Eupora Special Consolidated School District. During that period of service his every thought has been of the child to be taught and the responsibility upon the state.

He was born in this county, near Mt. Zion, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lawrence Latham. His father was once postmaster here, but now connected with the DeSoto Oil Company, of Memphis. Senator Latham attended the little school at Mt. Zion, later coming to Eupora to continue his education. In 1909 he was named by Congressman T. U. Sisson as his private secretary, and remained in Washington for two years. In 1911 he resigned his position and returned to Mississippi to enter Cumberland Law School, from which he was graduated in June, 1912. He took the bar examination at that time and was admitted to practice of law in November of that year. The following year he entered into partnership with Hon. A. F. McKeigney, and that association and friendship has not been broken since.

In August, 1928, he announced as a candidate for the state senate to fill the unexpired term of W. R. Scott. He was elected to that place and served with distinction until January, 1932. While in the senate he was instrumental in aiding the passage of many measures which have proved of benefit to the people of this district.

He will go into the race next year with the goodwill and loyal support of hundreds of men and women throughout this district—men and women who have come to appreciate his worth and his devotion to the cause of upbuilding this civilization of ours. That he will make a judge of distinction, fairness and capability none can doubt. He has the best wishes of his homefolks in his laudable ambition to round out a notable career by service on the bench.—Webster Progress, June 7, 1937.

While The Sentinel does not intend to take any part in the campaign for the office to which Mr. Latham aspires, both Mr. Latham and Judge Allen being our friends, we will say that we have known Mr. Latham for the past sixteen years, and know him to be a most able lawyer and a gentleman. He has practiced law for the past twenty-five years and is highly recommended by the people of Eupora and Webster county. In the special election, at which he was elected to fill the vacancy in the State Senate, he received the largest majority any candidate for that office had ever received up to that time in Webster county. He was not a candidate for re-election, and has never since sought any political office.

JOBS FOR THE JOBLESS

There are many lessons which may be drawn from the just-completed census of unemployment. If the lessons are heeded and future plans made accordingly, then the country will profit; if they aren't, then the nation will just have to continue muddling along and let nature take its course.

For instance, the census was made November 16-20. An awful lot of water has gone over the dam since then. Thousands were carried on payrolls at a loss right through Christmas just because employers didn't want to ruin their holiday season. Even the 7,882,914 enumerated by the census were said to represent only 72 per cent of those jobless. So we add a "guesstimate" to the cold figure and come up with 10,870,000 unemployed. It should be perfectly clear that Congress is pretty much legislating in the dark despite the census. It ought to have some machinery to give it accurate and up-to-date figures regularly, especially when things are not on an even keel.

One of the biggest lessons, however, was in the figures showing that out of the 7,882,914 who were jobless only 2,001,877 were doing WPA, NYA, CCC or other federal emergency relief work despite the outpouring of literally billions of dollars by state and national governments. That proves that the answer isn't the appropriation of additional billions but the expansion of job opportunities in private employment.

In short, you can't put even the present jobless on federal or state payrolls. The answer is to stimulate and build up the confidence of private enterprise so that it may supply the necessary jobs.

CASH DIVIDENDS FOR SAFE DRIVING

The careful motorist is to be financially rewarded for safe driving, according to an announcement from the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters.

In the past, motorists have paid the same price, based upon the accident experience in the localities where they live and the type of car they drive, for Automobile Bodily Injury and Property Damage Liability Insurance. This has penalized the careful motorist—though he might operate his car year after year without a mishap, his insurance cost him as much as it did the driver who was periodically involved in accidents. Now member companies of the National Bureau have decided to write insurance on an entirely new basis.

The new basis is the "safe driver reward plan" which guarantees to automobile policy-holders a 15 per cent return of their annual premium provided no claims are brought under policies during the 12 months after the effective date of the plan. The reward will be payable thirty days after the expiration of the policy year through the agent or broker. All private automobiles covered with bodily injury and property damage insurance by the member companies will be eligible, with the exception of those which are subject to the automobile fleet plan, the experience rating plan, or some other special plan.

It will be highly interesting to watch the effects of this new plan on the accident rate. Under it, to drive safely means that you are directly putting hard cash dollars in your pocket, as well as preventing accidents.

Recruiting Campaign Inaugurated In November, 1937 Has Been Most Successful

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 10—Major General George Van Horn Moseley, Commanding the Fourth Corps Area, announces that the recruiting campaign inaugurated early in November, 1937, for the purpose of bringing Regular Army units to full authorized strength has been most successful. Intensive recruiting activities will, however, be continued throughout January. All Fourth Corps Area vacancies have been filled except for White Infantry, Fort Benning, Ga., and Field Artillery, Fort Bragg, N. C. Young men desiring to enlist for service in the 29th U. S. Infantry, which is stationed at The Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga., or for service in the Field Artillery at Fort Bragg, N. C., are urged to apply at once.

For assignment outside of the Fourth Corps Area, Army officials announce that the young man desiring to travel and see the world can just about have his own selection of a station in view of the following attractive assignments: First Corps Area: Consisting of the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. Second Corps Area: Consisting of the States of New Jersey, Delaware and New York. Hawaii: Vacancies only for men with special qualifications. Panama: Vacancies in unlimited numbers for various Arms and Services.

This opportunity for Southern men who have a yearning to see the skyline of the Metropolitan Area and to participate in the Winter Sports common to the New England States and the Eastern Seaboard, is rather unusual, as the Fourth Corps Area is seldom authorized to accept applicants for service at Army posts located in other Corps Areas. However, according to present plans, 700 young men will sail from Charleston, S. C. on an Army Transport destined for New York City, on March 17, 1938. From the Metropolitan Area, those enlisted for the Second Corps Area will be assigned to the various organizations of the historic First Division, stationed at Army Posts throughout the Corps Area. The Headquarters of this famous Division is located at Fort Hamilton, New York, also a part of the 18th U. S. Infantry.

Undoubtedly, these Southern lads will, upon their arrival in New York, visit the little "Church of the Generals" located at the entrance of Fort Hamilton, which is only a few blocks away from the New York General Depot where the Transport will dock. It was at this little Church that General Robert E. Lee served as a vestryman and General "Stonewall" Jackson was baptized during tours of duty at Fort Hamilton.

The Army offers a career to any young man between the ages of 18 and 35, who is of good character, single, a citizen of the United States, and who meets all of the requirements, mentally and physically. Enlistments are for a period of three (3) years. The initial pay of a soldier is $21.00 per month and certain allowances which are ample clothing for his needs, comfortable and attractive barracks, and three well rounded and balanced meals per day. Promotion and advancement in the Service depends entirely upon the individual soldier.

Many trade schools are maintained by the Army for the training of soldiers who show special aptitude or desire to excel in a particular line. Thus, alert young men leave the Army after one or two enlistments with sound developed bodies, and proficient in a chosen trade.

Communicable Disease Have Claimed The Lives of 70,000 Mississippians

No let up appears in sight in the war against preventable diseases according to Dr. A. L. Gray, newly appointed director of the division of preventable disease control, State Board of Health. Stating that catching or communicable diseases have claimed the lives of 70,000 Mississippians since 1920, Dr. Gray named tuberculosis, typhoid fever, whooping cough, measles, diphtheria, syphilis, dysentery, scarlet fever, epidemic meningitis, infantile paralysis, smallpox, lobar pneumonia, and malaria as the successful invaders in what he called "guerrilla warfare."

"Seventy thousand deaths from communicable diseases in Mississippi since the recent date of 1920 is an average of 835 deaths per county," Dr. Gray stated. "In other words," he continued, "70,000 is as many people as now live in two average counties in Mississippi. In this battle as many people have died as live in the Cities of Jackson and Vicksburg in Central Mississippi, or as many as reside in all the Mississippi Gulf Coast towns combined with Laurel, Piquette and Poplarville."

Turning page after page in the Black Book of Death, Dr. Gray cited repeated instances of needless death caused by preventable methods of attack; and finally, to the public itself to enlist in the war against disease by accepting in soldier-like fashion the personal health suggestions of physicians and public health workers." Dr. Gray quoted the great statesman, Disraeli, who said, "The care of the public health is the first duty of a statesman."

"The command for the future is that 2,000,000 Mississippians be statesmen," Dr. Gray declared.

1937 4-H Club Boys Produce Record Crop

State College, Miss., Jan. 12—Fertile soil, good seed of the best varieties, fertilizers and use of the best farming practices coupled with favorable weather enabled Mississippi 4-H club boys in 1937 to produce record high crop yields.

Records of the two state champion and eight district champion 4-H corn and cotton club boys, announced today by J. E. Tanner, state boys' club agent, reveals the remarkable achievements of these young farmers who are combining science with the soil to get unusual results.

John Lang, Nitta Yuma, Sharkey county, state champion cotton club boy, produced 4,690 pounds of seed cotton on one acre. He planted his cotton on improved, fertile delta soil, used 200 pounds nitrate of soda per acre, cultivated intensively and poisoned once on July 1 for boll weevil control. He increased the yield of cotton the fifth consecutive year on the same acre.

William Noble, Lumbard, Hinds county, state corn club champion, produced 116 bushels of corn per acre. He was also a member of the cotton club and produced 2,820 pounds of seed cotton on his acre.

Jack Barnett, Union, Newton county, who was the 1936 state corn club champion with a yield of 170.7 bushels, came back in 1937 to beat his own record by producing 179.96 bushels of corn per acre. During four years of club work he has produced 696 bushels of corn on one acre. This acre has been planted to winter cover crops for eight years.

In 1937 Jack used 300 pounds of 10-20-10 fertilizer per acre before planting and sidedressed his corn with 200 pounds of nitrate of soda.

Using rich sandy loam bottom land, high grade fertilizer and nitrate of soda, Luel Woods, Jr., Byhalia, Marshall county, established a remarkable record when he produced eight 500 bales of cotton on three acres and 118.8 bushels of corn on one acre. He used 200 pounds of 6-12-6 fertilizer per acre under both corn and cotton and sidedressed with 200 pounds of nitrate of soda.

Winfred Hester, Nitta Yuma, made 3,670 pounds of seed cotton per acre. Starting in club work in 1933 he has increased his per acre production of lint cotton each year from 606 pounds in 1933 to 1,226 pounds in 1937.

Gordon Rushing, Tylertown, hung up a record of 4,140 pounds of seed cotton on 1.2 acres or 3,450 pounds per acre.

Wendell C. Russell, Monticello, produced 122.5 bushels of corn per acre. Charlie Fife, Germania, Yazoo county, made 132.3 bushels. Cooper Gibbs, Lawrence, Newton county, produced 5,132 pounds of seed cotton on his acre.

Mississippi produced the all time record average yield of 368 pounds of lint cotton per acre in 1937, the highest average yield in the Southern Region, and 103.4 pounds above the United States average.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

FSA Farmers Taking Steps To Swell State Mule Populations

Introduction of Mares For Power at Nominal Cost to Farmers of Limited Means

Jackson, Miss.—The serious shortage of farm work animals that plagued the South during depression days and sent mule prices soaring is being attacked in Mississippi by the Farm Security Administration by the introduction of mares for traction power and making purchased sire services available at nominal cost to farmers of limited means.

During the easy-credit years before the depression, land-hungry farmers looked with disdain on old mules. The machine age, it was generally predicted, was relegating her to the museum so far as farm use was concerned. Shiny new tractors bumped across the fields of the South at an incredible speed and it appeared that Dixie's universal plow dragger was about ready to hang up the harness for good.

Depression changed that picture. Planters staggered under the cost of tractors. Corn could be grown at home to feed mules, while it required cash to purchase feed for the gasoline horse. Furthermore, the tractor did not fit economically into the scheme of small unit farming. As depression winds blew, the demand for mules increased far beyond the available supply. Good animals had to be imported from Missouri and other states at prices ranging from $175 to $250 per mule.

The mule shortage created a serious problem for many of the depression-hit farmers who sought loans from the rehabilitation division of the Farm Security Administration. Few of them had adequate work stock and consequently most of their approved loans went for the purchase of one or more work animals.

The FSA has met with substantial success in its effort to encourage its rehabilitation borrowers and other farmers of limited means to replenish the supply and derive supplementary income from the sale of surplus animals.

A basic step was the introduction of mares on small-unit farms instead of mules. Mules are favored by many farmers because of their docile disposition and ability to work long hours with a minimum of attention. In spite of this, the FSA, through its supervised loans to low-income farmers, introduced 1,517 mares as motive power on farms of the 10,197 FSA borrowers during 1937.

The next step was the creation and financing of cooperative sire studs among FSA borrowers and their neighbors. A year-end report compiled by George M. Reynolds, state director of the FSA here, reflects that 93 organizations of this type operated in Mississippi in which 3,231 low-income farmers participated at nominal fees.

Organization of a sire cooperative is simple and experience is proving it practical and financially sound.

A rehabilitation farmer secures agreements among his neighbors that they will use the services of a guaranteed jack or stallion at a set fee which is usually substantially lower than otherwise charged. When enough signatures are secured to convince the Farm Security Administration that the services are needed and that the loan will be repaid from the fees collected, the farmer (or in some cases a group of farmers) is lent enough to purchase a registered animal. The services become immediately available to the participants and fees collected are applied to the retirement of the loan. The animal becomes the property of the original borrower when the loan is retired.

Of the 1,312 mares owned by FSA farmers in Mississippi, 408 foaled colts during 1937 and a substantially larger number are expected in 1938.

Mary Clark Wins Home Dem. Prize

By Lottie Wood, Home Dem. Agt. Miss Mary Clark from the Riverdale club entered the contest in secretaries record books for 1937 and won first place in this district and second place in the state. The prize will be paid by the State Home Demonstration Council.

The records were judged on the program and plan to work of the club, completeness of the report, attendance of leaders at major project training meetings and their assistance to the Home Demonstration Agent in carrying the program back to the clubs, publicity and a narrative describing result demonstrations.

Grenada county women are proud of this record and we hope more club members, who are secretaries, will enter the contest next year.

Fishing On Eagle Lake Approved

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 13.—Extension of the commercial fishing season on Eagle Lake was approved by the State Game and Fish Commission at the regular January meeting last week.

Action was taken by the commission after the Louisiana Conservation Department, which jointly supervises the lake, had previously agreed to the extension to January 31. The season had been scheduled to close December 31.

Director S. C. Corley advised the commission that under the program to rid Eagle Lake of predatory fish life, over 125,000 turtles had been removed. Over 17,000 gars, ranging from 1 pound to 250 pounds, one of the most deadly enemies of game fish, were also taken from Eagle Lake.

A total of 375,000 pounds of non-game fish were caught by commercial fishermen working on a contract basis with the Game and Fish Commission.

Members of the commission went on record as favoring a bill introduced in the Legislature by Senator G. B. Herring of Canton, extending the bird hunting season from Jan. 31 to February 22.

Attending the meeting were Chairman W. E. McIntyre of Brandon; vice chairman George Weathers of Greenville; secretary Ben M. Stevens of Richton; Col. Reuben R. Banks of Columbus; and Col. Edgar W. Wright of Centerville.

100 Youths Have Found Employment

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 8.—More than 100 youths have found employment in Mississippi's forests during the last year in a cooperative project sponsored by the National Youth Administration and the State Forestry Commission, it was revealed here today in the biennial report of the forest agency.

An eleven-point program has been conducted by the NYA in Smith, Hancock, Leake, Clarke, Jasper, Stone, Simpson, Harrison, Grenada, George and Jones counties.

The objectives covered by the program are given as follows: Contacting every person, white and black, with a story of the value of forest fire control, explaining the fire laws and securing signatures to voluntary agreements by those who will aid in preventing and controlling fires;

Distribution of forestry educational material to schools and individuals.

Preparation of forestry exhibits for schools and elsewhere.

Arranging with landowners for demonstrations of forest management including the establishment of forest plantations.

Gathering evidence of the destructiveness of fires.

Aiding the regular fire protection in discovering, reporting and suppressing fires.

Obtaining instruction in the duties of a towerman.

Organizing volunteer fire fighting crews.

Reporting on any areas that have been burned ten years or more.

Reporting stands of virgin timber or unusual second growth.

Reporting wood-using industries in counties.

Summing up the work of the 125 NYA foresters, it is revealed that they put in a total of 42,551 work hours. Other accomplishments included the contacting of 9,377 persons on forest protection and the planting of 155,250 trees.

Study Of The 1938 Agricultural Outlook

State College, Miss., Jan. 13.—Progress reports on results of agricultural research at Mississippi Experiment Stations, suggestions on development of county extension informational programs and further study of the 1938 agricultural outlook as it will likely affect cropping plans and livestock enterprises during the coming year featured Friday's sessions of the annual meeting of county farm and home agents presided over by E. H. White, director of extension.

J. P. Ricks, director of experiment stations, outlined plans for initiating research work in livestock production at the Natchez station, additional work in tung oil culture at the Poplarville station if needed funds are provided while a small station will be established in the commercial vegetable production area for the benefit of truck growers in Copiah and adjoining counties, if present plans materialize.

Dr. J. C. Roberts, superintendent of the Poplarville station, told how application of lime and use of commercial fertilizers had increased yields of truck crops, Irish potatoes and sweet potatoes. Of 70 varieties of sugar-cane tested, 290 led in production with a five year average yield of 514 gallons per acre, he said.

S. J. Greer, superintendent of the Natchez station, summarized results showing the remarkable effect of hairy vetch and Austrian winter peas on increasing yields of corn and cotton after the legumes were plowed under and also profits resulting from the use of nitrate of soda in production of corn and cotton.

E. B. Ferris, superintendent of the Holly Springs station, said the value of crotalaria in increasing the yield of corn was the most important result obtained at that station.

Dr. A. D. Suttle, agronomist, said germination tests showed little results had been obtained from treating cottonseed with cerosan.

In reporting on the work of the delta station, Superintendent Homer C. McNamara revealed that mules "can be fed at a cost of 17 to 21 cents a day by using the right rations." He outlined work in breeding better field crops testing tillage practices, use of different type implements, production of alfalfa and other work.

Summarizing results of 14 years of work with fertilizers, Roy Kuykendall of the delta station, said 30 pounds of nitrogen gave an increase of 420 pounds of seed cotton, 15 bushels of corn and 30 bushels of oats per acre. One ton of fertilizer resulted in production of three bales of cotton at 2 cents per pound, 175 bushels of corn at 18 cents per bushel and 350 bushels of oats at 9 cents per bushel.

Dr. J. F. O'Kelly, Dr. Clarence Dorman, and H. A. York gave interesting reports on crop varieties, cover crops and other work.

With the outlook for a lower net farm income in 1938, extension agents, emphasized that to maintain the present level of living during the coming year farm families will have to spend cash more effectively and get more of their living from the farm. Well planned food production programs, they claimed, will give the family a better food supply and reduce cash outlay, leaving more money for other items.

F. J. Hurst, extension editor, offered suggestions on a well-balanced county extension informational program which would include all of the proved media for disseminating information among large numbers of rural people, make larger use of local leaders and successful farmers and greater use of cooperating newspapers.

One of the most effective of all means of influencing farm people, the agents were guests of the Memphis Serum Company at luncheon.

Make Germination Of Cotton Seed Now

Mississippi extension service specialists advise cotton farmers to make germination tests of their cotton seed now. This may give them an advantage over the boll weevil and avoid time and expense of second plantings next spring.

Germination tests made by Dr. A. D. Suttle, agronomist of Mississippi State College, indicate that cotton seed will be much lower in germination this year than usual.

By means of a simple test recommended by Dr. Suttle, each farmer can test his own cotton with little trouble and expense. Take old shallow plates or bucket tops, fill them with clean, moist sand, place 100 seed in the sand and put the container near the kitchen stove or other warm place in the house. Keep the sand moist. The seed will sprout enough in a week to count. If less than 80 seed sprout the seed is low in germination.

If the seeds germinate below normal, there are two things the farmer can do: obtain better seed; or use present supply and seed heavier to make up for germination deficiency.

Since much seed over the entire Cotton Belt is apparently low in germination, J. W. Willis, extension cotton specialist, says farmers who buy seed should demand the highest possible germination test.

If it is necessary to use seed testing only 60 percent, plant at 1 1/4 times normal rate; seed testing 50 percent, twice the normal rate; and seed testing 40 percent, 2 1/2 times normal rate.

Ways of developing a major source of farm income from any one or more of such standard fruits as peaches, apples, pears, pecans, plums, grapes, and satsumas.

"It is the home orchard that is now particularly important, however. A very small plot of ground properly cared for will yield enormous returns, both in monetary value and in quantities of home-living that cannot be measured in dollars and cents. A large number of home orchards distributed throughout the state will serve the further valuable purpose of demonstrating what can be done and of preparing the way for expansion to commercial proportions.

"The range of fruits which may be produced in Mississippi is almost unlimited. Peaches and plums grow everywhere, of course, the pecan is already a commercial crop, and grapes, especially the muscadines, are increasingly popular. Apple growing may be limited to well drained areas of North Mississippi, though the Delta Experiment Station has a really remarkable orchard. If a portion of South Mississippi is denied apple production, it has satsumas and figs to compensate.

"Almost every home in Mississippi once had productive orchards yielding a variety of fruits. Disease and insect pests marked their end. These diseases and insect pests can be controlled, however, when given the same degree of thoughtful attention that is given in the production of good crops of cotton, for example. The county agent will be of invaluable assistance in that and other respects, and is usually informed as to sources of good planting stocks at minimum cost.

"The winter season, when plant life is dormant, is the time for planning orchards. This means now is the time to determine kinds of fruits wanted, to select the orchard sites, and to prepare for planting. To make the most of this opportunity will mean much in the immediate future of people who live on farms in Mississippi."

Mississippi is recognized to be a great fruit state, the Commissioner reasons, with the possible

Sharp Reduction In Violations Of State Game Law Reported

Violations Totaled 31, Or More Than 20 Less Than The Previous Week

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 12.—A sharp reduction in violations of state game laws was reported last week by Director S. C. Corley of the State Game and Fish Commission. Violations totaled 31, or more than 20 less than the previous week, with prosecution for hunting without licenses leading the list with 17.

"I would like to emphasize on hunters the fact that licenses cost only $1.25 for county and $3.25 for state wide privileges, while fines are never less than $10 when caught without one," Director Corley said. "Also, hunters are assisting us in carrying out the conservation laws, which include restocking of areas with birds when they purchase licenses, as all funds are used exclusively for improving conditions for sportsmen."

Other prosecutions last week included: Possessing hides without license, 3; conspiracy, 1; unplugged gun, 3; improper license, 4; possession of under-sized fish, 1; and miscellaneous violations, 2.

Convictions were as follows: Chickasaw County: John E. Keaton, Houston, hunting without license, Claiborne County: Roosevelt Early and Robert Newman, Russum, hunting without license, $10 each; Ulas Hayward, Pattison, hunting without license $10. The commission has obtained satisfaction from the growing use of a forestry textbook in the public schools of the state. A total of 14,089 copies have been distributed by the publishers of the text. A 32-page supplement is being prepared to bring the book up-to-date.

Through a campaign conducted by the forestry commission and others more than 50,000 dogwood trees have been distributed for planting in the state.

The commission has sponsored a number of contests to stimulate interest in forestry education. The commission has also published a monthly booklet entitled Mississippi forests and Parks, which has a circulation of more than 2,000.

Broadening Scope Of Educational Work

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 8.—Broadening the scope of its educational work, the Mississippi Forestry Commission has used multiple means during the last two years to educate Mississippians on the protection and conservation of forests.

The commission, in its biennial report filed by State Forester Fred B. Merrill, obtained satisfaction from the fact that newspapers of the state "have cooperated splendidly in carrying news releases." "The press gave fully of its space, and numbers of papers supported editorially the objectives of the forestry program," the commission reports.

Boistering this work, the commission's office personnel and field force has delivered more than 100 talks to interested groups.

Joining with the U. S. Forest Service, the state commission presented an elaborate exhibit at the Mississippi Free State Fair. Exhibits were also prepared for seven county fairs. Another exhibit was sent aboard the Know Mississippi Better Train.

The commission has obtained satisfaction from the growing use of a forestry textbook in the public schools of the state. A total of 14,089 copies have been distributed by the publishers of the text. A 32-page supplement is being prepared to bring the book up-to-date.

"A TENANT"

enough left each fall to make a down payment on a little home somewhere. He has been told several times by landlords, who have hundreds of acres of land, acres they don't need, that they will sell him some for so much down. But each year finds him as far away from home ownership as before. He does well to pay what he owes. His wife has almost given up hope of ever having a home, and is tempted on each move to throw away those scraggy flowers she's moved so much they never grow. The tenant is far from happy as he realizes he is missing the joy, peace and security of home ownership. One privilege they have left them is their right to VOTE. They have been told their road and poll taxes go for the maintenance of schools and roads. Although, Mr. Boushe says they contribute to neither.

I want to commend Secretary Wallace in his selection of the committee for this county, to help with this Tenant Bill. I'm sure these three men, Mr. Mullen, Mr. Gillon and Mr. Goodwin, will see that the worthy tenant gets justice.

When every farmer in the South shall eat bread from his own fields and meat from his own pastures, and disturbed by no creditor and enslaved by no debt, shall sit among his teeming gardens, orchards, vineyards, dairies and hamyards, pitching his crops in his own wisdom and growing them in independence, making cotton his clean surplus, and selling it in his own time and in his chosen market and not at a master's bidding, getting his pay in cash and not a receipted mortgage that discharges the debt, but does not reduce the fullness of our day.
Yes, Mr. Boushe, "You have Seen Their Faces." They'll see yours on election day, 1939.
"A TENANT."
